

MEMBER PRIVACY POLICY

The Primary Care Urology Society (PCUS) is committed to protecting your privacy and meeting the requirements of data protection legislation.

When PCUS talks about 'personal data' in this policy, it means any information which may be used to identify you, either directly or indirectly when combined with any other information PCUS may hold about you.

This privacy policy covers our use of your personal data which PCUS collects about you through the membership process, registration for meetings, attendance at our meetings, and your other interactions with PCUS.

In this privacy policy, when we refer to 'we', 'us', 'our' or 'PCUS' we mean either the acting Secretariat (Right Angle Communications) or the PCUS Officers. The Secretariat is the data controller for the purposes of the Data Protection Act 1998 under the Information Commissioner's Office registration number: Z9368761.

If you would like to contact PCUS about this privacy policy or for further details about how PCUS uses your personal information please contact janis.troup@rightangleuk.com

Personal data collected by PCUS

PCUS holds the following personal information:

- Personal data that you provide to us
We store personal data you provide directly to us through your membership and throughout the length of your membership, which includes registration for meetings, enquiries, preferences provided and attendance at meetings.
- Personal data we collect about you
PCUS stores personal data that it collects about you when you interact with us. These include things such as applications for membership, registration for meetings and general enquiries. PCUS may also hold on file information which is in the public domain, where appropriate.

Reasons for collecting that personal data

PCUS collects and stores personal data in order to provide you with membership-related services, such as attendance at our meetings.

PCUS has contractual interests for processing your data which include:

- collecting and storing information for research purposes in line with the PCUS' purposes
- processing information in order to provide members with information about news and meetings and services available as part of their membership

Who PCUS shares your personal data with

PCUS may share your personal data with the following types of organisations when required:

- printing firms within the UK, in order to provide printed documents necessary for our meetings, such as delegate lists, seating plans for events and similar
- on occasion: mailing houses within the UK, in order to post out information to you

PCUS will only provide your personal information, such as name, specialty and location of work. Contact information will only be shared upon prior consent from you.

Receiving communications from PCUS and updating your preferences

Members receive emails from PCUS about events and projects that PCUS thinks may be of interest to them as a benefit of being a member of PCUS. Members are able to update their contact preferences by emailing janis.troup@rightangleuk.com

PCUS may also send email communications to non-members whose personal details PCUS has received through interest in or attendance at one of our meetings. PCUS will only contact them with their consent and they can opt out of future communications at any time by janis.troup@rightangleuk.com

Retention of personal data

PCUS retains personal data for no longer than required in line with:

- PCUS' purpose
- operational requirements
- legislative requirements.

Personal data and your rights

Data protection legislation gives you the right to:

- correct any data we hold about you that is not correct (Rectification)
- request we delete data in some circumstances (Erasure)
- block or suppress the further processing of your personal data in certain circumstances (Restriction)
- request access to personal data that PCUS holds about you (Subject Access)
- in some circumstances, receive the personal data which you have provided to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have this transmitted to another data controller (Data Portability)
- withdraw consent for processing your data

Please contact janis.troup@rightangleuk.com if you wish to exercise your rights in relation to personal data. If you have concerns about the way PCUS has handled your personal data please contact PCUS in the first instance.
